

"For this year's Academic Integration Workshop at the Energy Summit, we are using a concept called "unconferencing" where participants design the workshop by suggesting topics for discussion prior to the workshop date, and then decide what to discuss at the time of meeting. This way, the workshop discussion can be, perhaps, more meaningful and helpful to participants.

To help facilitate this process, a Google Doc has been set up at the following link. The primary question for the Workshop and Google Doc ideas is:
"How can Academic Integration be achieved?"

Please submit your ideas for what you would like to discuss at the following link:
